

JAREN SUSTAR

ABOUT ME:

I grew up as a pastor's son in a small town in South Carolina (aka I don't come from money). Baseball was my life throughout my childhood and teen years and I continued to play it through college, where I accrued over $60,000 in student loan debt. By the time my wife and I got married in 2014, we had accumulated over $100,000 in debt, were only 23 years old, and I was only making $45,000 a year. We realized very quickly that we didn't want to live a debt ridden life, always stuck in the rat race- so we made a change. From 2014-2018, we climbed our way out of bad consumer debt completely. From there, we started investing the money that was once used to pay off student loans into single family real estate. Fast forward to today, and our real estate portfolio has freed us from that rat race. I now have the opportunity to share my insights and experiences with millions of others to help them achieve the same success we have in the Sustar household.

MY MISSION:

To help every day folks achieve financial freedom through investing in real estate.
